Long excursion (2 days: 14-15th May 2017)

Prehistoric fortresses and humanized landscapes

Chairs: Rafael Domingo, Luis Fatás

This field trip includes visits to pre-Roman fortified villages (Cabezo de Alcalá in Azaila and San Antonio in Calaceite, both in the north-eastern part of the Teruel province), as well as some nice villages: Calaceite, Cretas, Valderrobres and Beceite, in the Matarraña, an aragonese zone known as the Spanish Tuscany. The first day we visit the two archaeological sites and the small villages of Calaceite and Cretas. The second day we will be able to enjoy a short promenade upstream the Matarraña River from the nearby village of Beceite. We will see the earliest industrial area of Spain: in the 18th century more than 10 paper factories that profited the excellent water quality sent their products to all the country. El Parriscal, an impressive karstic canyon, is the final destination of our promenade.

Field trip starts and ends in Zaragoza (2 days duration)

Maximum participants: 40 people

Cost includes field-trip guide, bus transport, hotel accommodation and living expenses
